AFTER FURTHER REVIEW...

Fact: The Pack has outscored the Bears this season 73 to 9. Need we say more?

O-K... WE'LL SAY MORE

Last Sunday's beautiful 40-3 rout of Chicago moved Green Bay up to the #6 playoff position. The Packers now (almost) control their own destiny. By beating both Atlanta and Tampa Bay, the Pack will have the "tie-breaker" edge in every situation except a two-way with Philadelphia. Going into yesterday's Minnesota-Detroit game, the Central Division held four of the six playoff positions: Minnesota (#3), Detroit (#4), Chicago (#5) and the Packers. San Francisco remains number-one and Dallas second. A San Francisco win yesterday guarantees the 49ers the homefield advantage throughout the NFC playoffs. And remember, the real football championship this season will be played on January 15, 1995.

KISSIMMEE KENT'S KORNER

Next weeks regular season finale at Tampa Bay will not be available at the Kissimmee Chi-Chi's (blacked-out). It will be shown at the Casselberry Chi-Chi's near the 436 and 17/92 intersection. If the Pack make it to post season play... we'll see you in two weeks! GO PACK!

KARMA... OR COINCIDENCE?

Are these signs of possible playoff action... or are we just trying to fill column space. You be the judge.
