THE VERDICT IS IN

After nine-months, one thousand exhibits and 40-thousand pages of testimony... the verdict was finally read before 150-million viewers on Tuesday. Sure... we all know that O-J was acquitted. (big deal.) What most viewers missed was the real decree that the 12 men and women arrived at just a few seconds later that same morning. That was when the jury foreman announced to the world that "the state of California finds that... the Bears still suck!" There is justice after all. Thank you very much.

HEY BIG SPENDER, SPEND THIS!

Yes, we all know about the $140-million Jerry Jones put into purchasing the Dallas Cowboys and the Texas Stadium lease. We also know about his check writing prowess to procure and secure talent... most notably Deion "the Peon" Sanders. Revised figures from the NFL Players Association show Dallas spending the second-highest gross dollars in the league, 47.7 million dollars on salaries and bonuses.

So why aren't they over the $37.1 million salary cap? Officials say "those big bonuses are amortized over the life of the contracts." (Whatever that means.)

Jones has stated "I put more money on the line than any one individual has in the history of sports." With that in mind, here's a nice photo of Cowboy's moneybags Jerry Jones for you to abominate. (Whatever that means.)

WHO'LL BE THE TURKEY THIS YEAR?

The Packers have revenge on their mind. After becoming the number-one defense last year, the Packers fell apart during a three-game stretch and fell to ninth. Included in that fall was a loss to Dallas in which Green Bay surrendered 42-points and 436-yards on Thanksgiving Day 1994. Well, the Pack's "D" is once again ranked numero-uno, and once again facing the Cowboys on their home turf. We Cheddarheads have just one thing to say... "Troy Aikman... meet Reggie White." Yes... it's Troy "I Will Soon" Aikman. Earlier this week Aikman was hiding somewhere in the Dallas lockerroom and was listed as "probable" for today's game with Wade Wilson to sub. That was, until Coach Barry "It's Not My Fault" Switzer discovered him covered in the laundryroom under a pile of jocks and told the QB that if he didn't face the Packers he would have to have a dinner date with Jerry Jones.

BLAH, BLAH, BLAH, BLAH...

If you are interested in heading to the "Battle of the Bays" in Tampa on December 10th, you'd better act now. Order forms are now ready, and must be completed and paid for by October 29th. Different packages are available, including a chartered bus. Also on October 29th, some lucky CFGBPB will be the owner of an L-A Gear official NFL Packer Jacket (or as we say up-nort... "Coat"). Speaking of nice prizes... make sure to be here next Sunday (10/15) as Packer Bob will be giving away two $50 gift certificates for carpet cleaning, compliments of his business, Frank's Carpet & Upholstery Cleaning (862-9334). Next tailgate: 11/5 at 11am here at Chi-Chi's!
