Work In Progress—He had a shaky season last year, but for the second straight week, Packer's TE Bubba Franks caught a touch-down pass and took part in ending the Washington Redskins NFL-record streak of scoring in 231 consecutive road games. Green Bay has also outscored its opponents 65 to 6. That 59-point differential is the most ever in franchise history after two games since 1921. The previous best was 57 in 1996. Currently, the Packers 6-game winning streak, dating back to last season, is the longest in the NFL.

Packer Defense Pummels The Redskins

By Packer Brian #777

A few weeks ago I read an interesting book called "Mean On Sunday." It's a book about the life of former Packer Hall Of Famer Ray Nitschke. It depends on who you ask, but according to Ray, "Defense" wins games. The Packer "Offense" is great and it's their names that you usually see in big print, but today, I'm going to agree with Ray. Today we focus on the "D." In case you missed it, this past Monday night the Packer "D" shutout the Redskins 37-0. The last time the Packers achieved this feat was Dec of 1993, blanking the Raiders 28-0.

The Packer "D" is now ranked 3rd in the NFL and has not allowed a touch-down yet this season. The defensive "front-four" put pressure on Redskins QB Jeff George all night. They added another 5 sacks to their season total. Packers Gbaja-Biamila now leads the NFL with 4 sacks. Not only did George post one of his lowest quarterback ratings in his career ... it might have been the end of his career, because he got cut from the Redskins two days later. Packers LB Nate Wayne recorded his first career interception and summed it completely, "We're hitting on all cylinders." ☺

All Wash(ington)ed Up

The Washington Redskins, 0-2 and without a touchdown, cut quarterback Jeff George on Wednesday. Restricted to an offense that didn't suit him, George failed to lead the offense to a single point in 6 1/2 quarters of play. From there, it just get worse. --The Redskins (0-2) have been outscored 67-3, with the field goal coming with backup Tony Banks on the field in the opener against San Diego. --George's 34.6 quarterback rating ranks last in the NFL. --In two games, George completed only 23 of 42 passes for 168 yards and three interceptions and was sacked six times.

- The Redskins are without a touchdown two games into a season for the first time in the franchise's 69-year history.
- During last Monday's contest against the Packers, Redskins kicker Brett Conway spent most of the game wearing dark sunglasses while hanging with the guys on the Packers side of the bench.
- Washington DE Bruce Smith set a new team record during week-one when he sacked himself five times.
- Redskins Coach Marty Schottenheimer used the scouting video of their first regular season game to tape the "Leave It To Beaver" marathon on TV Land.
- Instead of trying to get the Washington Redskins to change their team name, the Indian tribe changed theirs instead.
- The Chicago Bears are celebrating the fact that there is a team that sucks worse than they do. ☺

Tailgates, Tickets & Tattoos

What more could a Packer fan ask for? Next Sunday the fun starts early, at 12:30 to be exact, at Kate O'Brien's beer garden at 42 West Central Blvd. Lunch is on the Central Florida Packer Backers, where the usual fare of Johnsonville brats, tasty beans and, of course, Potato Salad Chris' world famous German potato salad will be served in heapin' helpins. Wash it down with a couple-two-tree beers and that would be a pretty good afternoon, huh? No way, we're just getting started! From there its over to One-Eyed Jacks for the game, but before that stop on over and pick up your

Jacksonville-Packers tickets that were ordered at the picnic. What more could you ask for? If you said a lot more you'd be right! At halftime its the third annual Packer tattoo drawing, in which some lucky member can really show their life-long loyalty to the Green and Gold by getting a free Packer tattoo, compliments of Incredible Ink at 1 South Orange Avenue in downtown Orlando. Of course the tattoo is non-transferable (hee-hee). ☺

VEGAS ODDS: PACKERS BY 4.0 OVER THE PANTHERS AND THE O/U = 41.0

The Packers rank 3rd in the NFL on Offense (1st rushing & 7th passing) & 3rd on Defense (2nd against run & 4th against the pass) following 3rd week of regular season play.

Our Next Victim ... The Carolina Panthers

THE FAVRE FILE

The assault on the NFL's record books continue. Brett extended his NFL record for most consecutive starts by a QB to 143 games. Favre also became only the 12th player in pro football history to pass for 35,000 yards in career. Additionally, when he connected with Antonio Freeman for last week's first TD, it marked the 52nd time they have hooked up and that moved the duo into 9th place on the all-time list of TD tandems.

Brett now has 260 career TD passes, only one away from moving into 7th place on that all-time list. ☺

THE PACKER-LION SERIES

Not much to say here. We've played each other 4 times with both teams sharing 2 wins. Packers have lost the last 2 meetings, but still hold an advantage with an extra win in the 1996 NFC Championship playoff game.

Dallas Cowboy Fans Have New Team To Cheer For

If you haven't heard by now, starting in the next season there's going to be another NFL team. They have claimed the name of the "Houston Texans."

Earlier this week the "Texans" unveiled their new home and away uniforms and more importantly, their energetic group of 35 cheerleaders.

In attendance at the ceremony was Dallas Cowboys' Jerry Jones.

"I think it's great that Dallas Cowboy fans will finally have an alternative to having to watch my crappy under-talented team," said Jerry. Jerry also added, "I was also lucky enough to meet one of those young beautiful cheerleaders and get her phone number. She's no bimbo though, she's a weather girl or something like that because every time I've tried to call her, even though she's not there, I still get a recording of today local weather." ☺

THE GREEN FILE

Monday night Ahman Green gained another 116 yards. It was the 6th time in his short career that he has done this. Combined with his previous performance in week No. 1, Green is currently ranked the No. 1 in the NFL for rushing this season. ☺

THE LONGWELL FILE

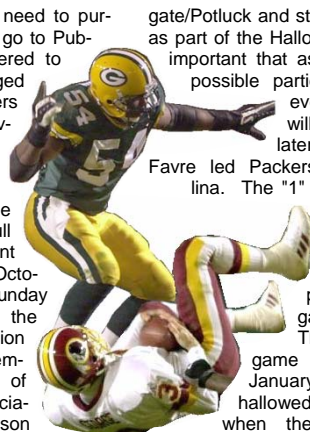

Placekicker Ryan Longwell closed out last Monday night with a total of 13 points, which included 3 field goals and 4 extra points. Ryan became only the sixth player in Packer history to score over 500 points. This lifted his career total to 509 points scored, leaving him only 12 points behind Chester Marcol who registered 521 during his 9-year Packer career (1972-80). ☺

Kissimmee Kent's Korner

"Nothin could be fina, than a win at Carolina..." except for one thing... and that would be the beautiful American flag inserts produced by Packer Brian for Monday nites Packer Page. A great idea that set the tone for a fantastic evening. To quote Brad "It's great being us!" Gini told me that one of her unfulfilled dreams was to be a fashion model. Today she gets her wish. She is modeling this year's club shirt which is now on sale for $20. Orders will be accepted during the game with delivery at the tailgate party. Yes! Tailgate party. All members and guests are encouraged to join us after the game behind Froggers. You can get there by driving around either end of the shopping strip. There is plenty of parking space. DO NOT BLOCK THE FIRE-PLUG. The serving tables will be set up as soon as possible. If you need to purchase beverages you can go to Publix. Those who remembered to bring coolers are encouraged to share with the first timers and absent-minders. Beverages and coolers gets us to beer mugs. You can get your mug filled to the top of the "i" (22oz) for the pint price or completely full (30oz) for double the pint price. Looking ahead to October 14... That's the Sunday when the Packers beat the defending world champion Ravens after CFGBPB members and guests partake of the first Packer Fan Appreciation Brunch of the season presented by FROGGERS. It will be free to members with a $2 charge for guests. Then on November 4... the Sunday when the Packers complete the season sweep of the Bucs after CFGBPB members and guests "chow down" at the Indoor Tailgate/Potluck and stick it to Jerry Greene as part of the HalloGREENE party. It is important that as many members as possible participate in these two events so that Froggers will let us have others later in the season. The most important Favre led Packers are 2-1 at Carolina. The "1" is most remembered since the 31-14 debacle last November was the last Packer loss prior to the current six game winning streak. The most important game with Carolina was January 12, 1997 on the hallowed Lambeau tundra when the soon-to-be World Champion Green Bay Packers won the NFC Championship 30-13. One final request--FILL THE TABLES! We expect a "packed" house so lets show our fellow members and guests true club hospitality. GO PACK! ☺

Souper Bowl Bound Packers

It's not quite over with yet, but if it were today, the Green Bay Packers would be declared Souper Bowl champs of 2001.

Campbell's Chunky Soup is taking a poll on their website (www.chunky.com), click on "Tackling Hunger," and using the results toward a worthy cause.

Campbell's "Click For Cans" program is an easy way for you to help your favorite NFL team in Tackling Hunger with Campbell's Chunky soup. Just logon to their website and then click on your favorite team's logo (which would be the Packers, naturally) and they'll donate one can of any Campbell's soup up to a total of 5 million cans.

The more times you participate, the more soup that gets delivered. So bookmark the site and vote often... and tell your fellow Packer Backer buddies to visit and vote too! Limit one click per day, per email address, so hack into your co-worker's computer and vote for them too. Currently, the Green Bay Packers are kicking the Vikings cans big-time! As of press time, the Packers have the most votes with 212,661 cans of soup donated, far ahead of the second place Minnesota Vikings with just 73,784 cans to the cause. Believe it or not, the Chicago fans are even voting, with a total of 28,123. I'm sure you won't be surprised to hear how many votes Tampa Bay has. They now have a total of 6 votes. ©

With the help of Gilbert Brown, Campbell's Chunky Soup donated over 6,000 cans to a local Green Bay food bank. Gilbert weighed in at a total of 403 cans before lunch, 423 cans after lunch and 395 cans after what team-mates described a "very odiferous" afternoon bathroom break.
